Union Planters Bank robbed

Separate suspect nabbed in recent Pass heist
by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer
Officers of the Bay St. Louis Police and the FBI are searching for an as-yet unidentified man who robbed the Bay branch of Union Planters Bank Tuesday.

The robbery happened at about 4:20 p.m. Tuesday, shortly before the bank was scheduled to close for the day, and ended peacefully. The teller gave him the money and he left the bank with an undisclosed amount of cash ... and fled on foot.

The Bay St. Louis police and agents of the FBI are looking for this man, suspected of robbing the Bay branch of Union Planters Bank on Tuesday.

A new rail line may soon be running through Hancock County if members of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission are successful in their bid to connect with the Norfolk Southern Railroad out of Picayune. The new line, dubbed Project HanRail, would connect Port Bienville, Stennis Space Center and Stennis International Airport, in Kiln, with the Norfolk Southern line. Crossings over three major highways would be necessary to make the $35 million project a reality. Both new and old Hwy. 90 and Interstate I-10 would be in

County gets more crime for Christmas

Area burglaries seem to increase during holidays

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus
Daylight burglaries are keeping area investigators busy, according to Hancock County Sheriff Steve Garber. "The holiday season of Thanksgiving and Christmas is the time of year we have an increase in home burglaries," Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt said Tuesday. "A Lakeshore Road residence was hit with a day time burglary on December 5, with an estimated $30,000 in stolen property," Investigator Tom Roan said on Monday. Roan said, "The incident occurred in broad daylight between 9 a.m. and 2:40 p.m. Shotguns, rifles, several jewelry items, gold coins, silver certificates, hunting equipment, hunting clothing, in addition to Christmas presents were stolen at the Lakeshore Road residence." Investigator Andre Fizer said, "Also on December 5, a residence on Edward Ladner Road was burglarized. A computer and printer, television set and DVD Player were stolen." Investigators Roan and Fizer are also investigating a Leetown Community burglary which occurred on Monday of this week. Fizer said, "The burglary occurred between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. The residents are missing a 35-inch television set, computer and Christmas toys." The burglars drive up to

Meter reader turns fire fighter to save Bay family's home

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer
With a little prayer and a lot of courage, one Bay St. Louis employee put out a fire that quite possibly could have destroyed a local woman's home only a few days before Christmas. Carlton Kelly, an outside utilities supervisor for city, was in Loraine Flower Shop on Ulman Avenue on Tuesday when he saw an orange van creep by a nearby home. He said the motorist then stopped at the shop and said he believed there was a fire inside the house. Kelly said he walked over to the house and saw the fire through a plate glass window. "I tried all the doors, but they were locked," Kelly said. "So, I prayed for a way to get in." He then found a door in the rear of the home that was hinged so it opened inward and promptly kicked it in. "The first thing I saw was a pile of clothes in the bath-

Dog credited with saving family

Kodi Bettencourt of Pass Christian is a real hero to his family. He saved them from a fire. And Kodi is only 11 months old, an 11 month old mixed breed shelter dog from the Waveland Animal Shelter, that is.

When Mary Bettencourt was awakened by Kodi's unusual whining in the middle of the night, she didn't detect anything out of the ordinary except a little popping noise in the chimney. Mary assumed it was the sound of the chimney cooling off after the evening's fire, so she told Kodi to be quiet and go back to sleep. But Kodi went crazy, Mary said, lunging at the door of his crate and barking, waking her husband Virgil.

Virgil got up to do a closer inspection of the home and returned shortly to tell Mary to grab the couple's two cats and Kodi and Cleo, the other family dog, get in the car in the garage and get it outside as quickly as possible.

Mary said she knew it was something really bad. What it was a plume of smoke and flames billowing out of the chimney like a tornado because the whole chimney was on fire. Mary grabbed the beloved pets and three rings, her wedding ring and two others of sentimental value and did as Virgil had ordered.

The rings were the only thing Mary saved. The Bettencourt's house burned to the ground despite the best efforts of 23 firemen, Mary said. The couple lost everything.

But they are grateful that they didn't lose their lives and say they owe it all to Kodi. Smoke alarms didn't go off in the home until twenty minutes after they had escaped, when the smoke finally reached them. By that time much of the structure was in flames, Mary said. If it had not been for Kodi's insistence, the couple say they would not have been able to save all the pets and maybe not even themselves.

The couple had lived in the home for seven years and designed it themselves. The home was filled with family heirlooms, art collections, and mementoes from Virgil's extensive travels, all irreplaceable. But the Bettencourt's still feel lucky to have the things that mean the most to them, each other and their pets.

"I am trying to see the positive side of this, take the high road," said Mary. "And if this could help someone thinking of getting a pet to see the value of animals at the shelter, then that is what we would like."

The Bettencourt's are not asking for any donations for themselves. They are staying with friends and have had an outpouring of donations of clothes and more from many sources, Mary says.

If someone would like to help, then the Bettencourt's are asking that they make donations to the Friends of the Animal Shelter of Hancock County or to call the Waveland shelter and see what they need.

"Make a donation in honor of Kodi or in honor of another beloved pet," she said. "And remember what an animal can do for you."

The Friends of the Animal Shelter will be paying half of the cost of adopting a pet at the Waveland Animal Shelter through the end of the year. The shelter is full of beautiful pets just looking for a home, said Friends president Mickey Evans. Call the shelter for more information at 467-0230.

Bay Council gets that sinking feeling

Members fear new drainage infrastructure may not be sound

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Staff Writer

Bay St. Louis City Council members may attack a potentially colossal infrastructure problem this afternoon, in an extra meeting set for 5:30 p.m.

Mayor Eddie Favre said Tuesday he'll be ready with recommendations concerning collapsing drainage pipe connections underground in the historic downtown area. Only five or six problems have popped up so far, he said, but there may be dozens - or hundreds - in the failure process. And the clock is ticking on the warranty that the city has covering the multi-million drainage project. Council had agreed to recess its regular monthly meeting until today, at Favre's request, in order to deal with this month's recommendations from the Planning and Zoning Commission.

But a later discussion of the drainage pipe problem led to a promise by Favre to ready a recommendation by today on how to proceed with that issue.

Known as "Project C," the drainage improvement program at issue was completed several years ago by Colom Construction Co., at a cost of some $3.5 million. The engineering work was done by James J. Chiniche.

Before the construction was completed, officials noticed that more than 500 pipe joints had not been fully connected, the mayor said. That led to an agreement that those joints could be sealed with a special grout.

"The literature assured us that the grout was so strong, the pipe would break before the grout," said city attorney John Scafide during Tuesday night's meeting. But, he added, city Public Works Director Ron Vanney says the grout has broken in five or six spots.

That's led to sinking surfaces, officials say, within Project C. "We're just seeing isolated problems, but that doesn't mean there won't be more," Favre warned.

How to proceed from here is at issue. Some suggest hiring a firm to video the underground connections would determine how extensive a problem has developed. Others think Chiniche should analyze what's happened.

But Ward 1 council member Doug Seal is insisting that an independent engineering firm should be brought in to analyze the problem. Favre said perhaps a city worker could walk through the six-foot pipes and report on the joints.

Or, the mayor said, he may call several engineering firms for proposals on assessing the drainage system's health.

"We need to identify what caused it to fail," Favre said.

While the overall project had a one-year general warranty, which has expired, officials say they got an extra four-year warranty on the grouting work. That expires in several months, officials said. Meanwhile, the warranty bonding company has been put on notice about the several joints that have collapsed so far.

In other business Tuesday, council:

• Almost promised to take action on a Historic Preservation Ordinance proposal that has been in the works for some eight years. Hancock County Historical Society officials urged action Tuesday night, but council members said they would vote late next month, once they are sure a final, acceptable ordinance has been drafted.

• Agreed on a draft franchise renewal document for Mediacom cable. The city has no control over the rates that Mediacom charges its customers. There are several new provisions the city hopes to win in the contract, however, including guaranteed use of a free public access channel.

• Adopted a resolution supporting the upcoming 2004 Dixie Softball Angels World Series, to be held in Bay St. Louis. The tournament among 12 teams from 11 states will run at least seven days, with competing teams of 9- and 10-year-olds.

• Discussed adopting a special deposit rate for renters who establish utility service. The current residential deposit fee of $210 applies to property owners or renters, but officials say they have little recourse against tenants who relocate with unpaid utility bills.

• Discussed banning "can shakers" from city intersections. Officials are concerned over the safety of fund solicitors - especially youths - in high traffic areas.

The Pass Christian Board of Aldermen initiated the process of constructing a new city barn during its Dec. 16 recess meeting by entering into a contract with L. Jaubert and Associates PLLC for architectural and engineering services at a fee of $85 per hour.

The board intends to replace the current barn located on West North Street.

"It's an old barn," said Alderman Chip McDermott. "It's obsolete; it's dilapidated."

McDermott said the barn is used to store city vehicles and equipment. Public Works also works out of the barn. There are currently three possible locations for the new barn.

The board is eyeing two additional properties the city owns besides the location on West North Street. McDermott said the board is also thinking about locations on East North Street and Espy Avenue.

McDermott said he and Mayor Billy McDonald agree that the barn should stay at its current location.

As for the cost of the entire project, McDermott said the new barn will be covered in the proposed Tax Increment Financing (TIF) Bond Issue. The city is seeking up to $3 million to pay for remaining costs for the renovations at the Randolph Multi-purpose Center and for paving roads.

Hussein should face people of Iraq and receive a 'fair' trial

Goodwill offers wide variety, inexpensive Christmas gifts

The news Sunday morning of Saddam Hussein captured filled the airways and was the only subject anyone wanted to discuss.

The announcement of "We Got Him" was one our President and many people of the world wanted to hear.

Telephones were busy telling friends and relatives to turn their televisions on, and I am sure there must have been a record number of television viewers for a Sunday morning.

To me, it seems Saddam Hussein will go down in history with the likes of Adolph Hitler.

As Hitler turned the world upside down, Hussein did so too.

The lives of millions of American, Iraqi and other families of the world have been upset by Saddam's activities as the president of Iraq.

It seems that every day more and more bodies of Iraqis who were murdered are being found.

The United States has had hundreds of men and women killed and in addition to many hundreds injured.

Hussein is apparently responsible for the killing of hundreds of thousands of his own country's people of all ages.

Saddam was such a "Big Shot," he thought on top of the world, yet, he was really a coward found like a snake in a hole.

Hopefully, the blood shed in Iraq will come to an end and American and Allied Forces can return to their homes and get their lives back together.

The people of Iraq also needs to get back to normal, and hopefully they will never face another cruel leader like Hussein.

Saddam needs to face the people of Iraq, who should give him a "fair" trial and his just do.

If you have not completed your Christmas shopping, it is best you get started soon, as Christmas is only a week away.

Our local merchants still have many great Christmas gifts available.

In viewing the number of vehicles in our shopping parking lots, it seems that many are taking advantage of Shopping-at-Home which helps the entire community.

Short on cash? You may want to consider dropping by the Goodwill Store at the Bay Mall located on Highway 90 at Dunbar in Bay St. Louis.

The store has a wide variety of clothing, some toys, Christmas decorations, etc. Merchandise changes on a daily basis.

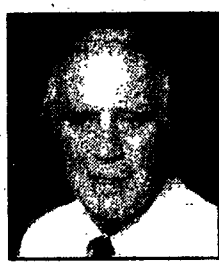

Prices are very low.

On the other hand, if you have toys your children have outgrown, you may want to consider donating them, as well as outgrown clothing to Goodwill.

Mississippians may see glimpse of future when new state Senate convenes Jan. 6

Right off the bat, when the new state Senate convenes here Jan. 6, Mississippians may well get a preview of the sharply partisan cleavage that likely will mark Mississippi's upper chamber the upcoming four years.

Republican and pro-business lobby forces have mounted an unprecedented Senate election challenge seeking to bar Democratic Senator-

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

elect Dewayne Thomas of Byram from being seated in the 2004 Legislature.

Backers of Republican incumbent 29th District Sen. Richard White of Terry are seeking to have the Senate throw out at least 546, or as many as 1,100, ballots cast Nov. 4 in Hinds County precinct 93 and seat White as the winner.

Thomas was certified the winner by 135 votes on Nov.

25 after the Hinds County Election Commission agonized for days over recounting paper ballots used when voting machines malfunctioned.

"This could split the Senate right down the middle if they (the White forces) persist in this challenge," said Thomas, an attorney and former member of the Mississippi House.

"I don't think either (Lt. Gov.) Amy Tuck or incoming Governor (Haley) Barbour needs this division at the beginning of the session," Thomas added.

If Thomas is seated, the state Senate would have 30 Democrats and 22 Republicans. With White, the margin would narrow to 29 Democrats and 23 Republicans. In any case, however, the Senate will have a Republican presiding officer in Lt. Gov. Tuck.

BIPEC, the business and industry lobby, has meantime jumped into fray. Dick Wilcox, the group's president, has launched a drive to raise $65,000 from its big financial backers for "legal and political counsel" for White. Another $25,000

Medicare bill does little for seniors

It is often said that the government will find the most convoluted and expensive way to address a given problem.

The Medicare bill the President has signed into law is no exception. Seniors wanted affordable prescription drugs.

What they got was inflated bureaucracy, $400 billion in debt, and a marginal benefit at best. It is a shame that the prescription drug benefit for seniors was used as a guise to fatten the wallets of wealthy drug and insurance companies.

I am in favor of a drug benefit that makes drugs more accessible for seniors through cheaper prices and less bureaucracy. This Medicare bill did none of these, and that is why I voted against it.

This is how the standard benefit will work when it takes effect in 2006. Insurance companies, HMO's and PPO's will bid to offer drug benefits in different regions.

At least two options will be available in each region and at least one option will be a drug-only insurance policy for those in regular Medicare.

The others may be HMO or PPO plans that include drug coverage with other benefits. Federal subsidies to the insurance companies will cover 74.5 percent of the cost of the drug insurance policy.

Seniors who choose a drug-only plan would pay a monthly premium to be set by the insurance company. The bill's sponsor's claim the average premium in 2006 would be $35 per month, $420 for a year. Even if premiums start at $35 per month, they will increase after that.

The standard benefit would have a $250 deductible. The insurance would pay 75 percent of the next $2,000 of prescriptions, with the beneficiary paying 25 percent. With $2,250 in drugs for the year, a beneficiary would pay the $250 deductible, $500 in co-insurance, and the premiums. The insurance would pay $1,500 with some of that from premiums and the rest from the government.

After $2,250 in prescriptions, suddenly the beneficiary would pay all of the next $2,850 of drug costs while still paying premiums for insurance that pays nothing.

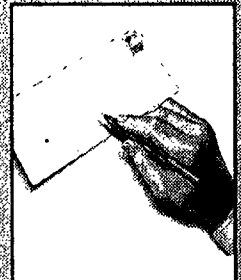

This gap was intentionally and cynically designed so that millions of senior citizens would fall in and not come back out. So far the would be needed if a special election is called.

A dispute had arisen in the Senate District 29 post-election where 546 paper ballots were questioned as being technically invalidated because they were not initialed by poll workers.

However, Attorney Gen. Mike Moore ruled that the ballots should be counted by the election commission.

Otherwise, Moore said, voters, choices of candidates on the ballot other than White or Thomas would also be tossed out through no fraud or wrongdoing by the voter.

White, and his attorney, Rusty Fortenberry, not only contend that Moore erroneously ruled that the uninitialed ballots in Precinct 93 should be counted, but they also say another 400 or more paper ballots were unlawfully entered by election workers later on operative voting machines in Precinct 94.

If the Senate chooses not to outright declare White seated, the White challenge asks the Senate to call a new election in the entire Senate District 29.

Attorney Gen. Moore, who retires from office in January, said it was his belief that only the courts can call a re-election, but he has issued no formal opinion on the issue.

In his letter asking for contributions, BIPEC president Wilcox called the challenge to get White seated "a crisis situation," adding that "a businessman legislator is under attack from a trial lawyer and trial lawyer backers."

Actually, Thomas since 1995 has been assistant Hinds County prosecuting attorney. A spokesman for him said he received no contributions from the trial lawyers, political action committee or the Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association.

Backers say Thomas waged his campaign on a mere $5,000 in contributions by literally going door-to-door. During the campaign, Thomas, 19-year-old son who had campaigned with him was killed in an automobile accident on Highway 18.

The full-court press by BIPEC to block Thomas, Senate seating is the second time this year the well-heeled pro-tort reform lobby group has actively tried to alter state legislative decision-making.

Earlier the business lobby threw its resources and political know-how into a failed attempt to defeat Democratic state Rep. Billy McCoy, of Rienzi in his reelection.

And even later, BIPEC was found to be working in the background in a desperation move to block McCoy from becoming the next House Speaker.

Thomas charged that the BIPEC was trying to install White in the Senate "because he is the poster child for their agenda and they want him at all costs."

Ben Piazza, who is Thomas' attorney in the Senate challenge said the law on how the Senate handles such challenges is uncertain. But he added: "this case will be handled by the Senate politically, no matter what arguments are made."

Meantime, swirling around Capitol circles were reports that committee chairmanships are being used as bargaining chips to swing a handful of Democratic senators to vote to seat White.

While Democrats are assured of holding a majority of Senate seats, some are known to be "soft-core" Democrats, in contrast with their Republican colleagues, who are, without exception, party loyalists.

Adding to the political overtones of the White challenge, speculation also centers around White's attorney, Fortenberry, who is rumored to be Gov.-Elect Barbour's choice for commissioner of public safety.

Fortenberry is remembered as the prime mover behind Republican gubernatorial candidate Mike Parker's challenge of the 1999 governor's race before the Mississippi House. Parker lost by a 2-to-1 vote.

beneficiary has paid their $420 a year in premiums (if the premiums stay that low), has paid the $250 deductible, paid the $500 in co-insurance, and forked up $2,850 to come to a total of $4,020 that the senior has paid for $5,100 in drugs.

After costs exceed $5,100, a beneficiary will receive catastrophic benefits and pay 5 percent co-insurance from then on. The bill prohibits private supplemental insurance plans from covering any drug costs of beneficiaries who enroll in the Medicare drug plan.

In addition, Medicare will have access to IRS data on Medicare beneficiaries and will share some of the income data with the insurance companies that administer the drug program.

Medicare will require this information to provide different benefits and charge different premiums based on income.

Additional drug benefits will go to low-income seniors and the higher premiums go only to those with higher incomes.

These income levels would be easy for Congress to manipulate to reduce the number receiving low-income benefits or increase the number paying higher premiums.

We could have had a simple bill that allows for Medicare to negotiate with drug companies for lower prices. Now we have a benefit that is a windfall for insurance companies and drug manufacturers.

The only way the bill keeps down spending is by skimping on the benefit, leaving most seniors paying the majority of the costs at high prices.

The Medicare bill is consistent with Republicans' complete disregard for fiscal responsibility. To a country that is already $7 trillion in debt, with each American effectively owing $23,704, an additional $400 billion of debt does not help anything.

Neither does the $1.7 trillion of cost projected for the second decade of the bill. Each year the country must borrow money to cover its costs. It does so through the selling of Treasury securities.

Most of the newly acquired debt is owed to Japan, Communist China, and other countries that buy these securities. We pay more in interest to foreign nations than we do in total foreign aid.

From our nations inception to 1980 our country had acquired a debt of $1 trillion. Since May 2001, the President and his Congress have added $1.3

trillion to the debt. In fiscal year 2003, they spent $218 billion that was supposed to be saved for future Social Security, Medicare, military retirement, and federal employees retirement benefits, and borrowed another $374 billion on top of that.

Bush and his Congress have cut taxes, increased spending, cut taxes again, increased spending again, cut taxes again, and increased spending again.

The total operating deficit for fiscal year 2003 was $592 billion.

As this trend of deficit spending continues, we threaten the financial security of future Americans whose incomes will have to pay for this massive and mounting debt.

The nation needs to have a balanced budget, pay down its debt, and either pay for what we spend or stop spending it. The passage of this Medicare bill indicates that fiscal responsibility is not a priority and that the power in this country lies with wealthy campaign contributors, not with everyday Americans.

We must be making decisions and setting policy that is good for the citizens of the country, rather than what is good for the next election.

Hancock Women's Club meets Dunbar Village

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Hancock Women's Club held its December luncheon/meeting this past Thursday at Favre's on the Bayou, where they presented their birthday members Virginia Brown, Eleanor Hill, Margaret Joly, Doris Long, and Molly Malpie with a sock snowman. Although not present, Joyce Hasling and Stacy McArthur will also receive theirs.

The free lunch was won by Danna Piazza. Billie Jean Nieber explained the duties of the elected officers, so that members could consider running for a position in the upcoming election.

Charities and their appropriations were read by President Killeen. Club members voted to accept the annual donations, and the Club will distribute $1,750 to the various charities.

President Killeen also asked members to donate books for the Waveland Library and tote bags for the children of Hope Haven, as part of HWC's community service. Judy Stevens led the group in caroling, and gifts were distributed to all members by Santa Dottie Kingsmill. The 50 filled gift bags for the residents of Dunbar Village were delivered after the luncheon to conclude our Christmas program.

The next meeting will be Thursday, January 8, 2004, at the Acadian Grill in Waveland.

Any lady in the Hancock County area interested in learning more about our Club and its interests, or for making reservations to the luncheon, please contact President Amelia Killeen at 467-0589.

Rails -- tied up

the new rail line's path. A rail bridge would pass over the interstate, said deputy director Greg Deakle. All crossings, over all roads would be guarded crossings, said commission project manager Jerry Hemphill.

Most of the rail line would pass through the Stennis Space Center Buffer Zone, just east of the secured area of the Space Center proper and up to the county line. Another branch of the line would closely parallel Texas Flat Rd. and travel east to Stennis Airport, said Deakle.

The Norfolk South line runs all the way from Atlanta to New Orleans and offers the county a more northern route, less susceptible to weather than the existing CSX line which runs directly along the coast, said Deakle.

Besides this advantage, having access to two Class I rail lines will industrial tenants at the port to keep operating costs low, because rates will be more competitive, said Commission director Hal Walters. Plus it will help the county attract more rail dependent businesses.

The line will also restore rail service to Stennis Space Center that has been unavailable since the closure of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant and add rail service to the airport, said Walters. It will also connect Pearl River County and its industries to the CSX line, he said.

The project will include the rehabilitation of 18 miles of exiting rail bed and the construction of eight new miles of track, including the elevated crossing over the interstate.

Funding will come in part, about $20 million, from Federal grants; $7 million will come from private funding from shippers and the Norfolk Southern Line, said a press release. State funding is also being sought.

On Wednesday the Hancock County Board of Supervisors voted to allow the commission to begin the planning process for the project with McGlinchey Stafford, PLLC. Initial cost for planning would be in the neighborhood of $160,000.

Bank -- suspect

Stepro said the suspect, who was captured on the bank's surveillance video camera, is a light-skinned black male with short hair, apparently in either his late teens or early 20s. The man was about 5'6" or 5'7", Stepro said, and weighed approximately 145-155 pounds.

Stepro said that anyone with information in the case should contact the Bay P.D. at 467-9221, or the FBI.

While the suspect in that case remained at large yesterday, police in Brookhaven announced they had captured a man who had allegedly used a fake bomb to rob the Pass Christian branch of the People's Bank on Aug. 7 - and who is suspected of having robbed at least five other banks.

"A guy walked up to a bank teller (during the August robbery) and put what he says was a bomb on the counter," Pass Christian Police Chief John Dubuissou said at the scene at the time, "and told the teller to put the money in the bag." The man took an undisclosed amount of money, left the bomb on the counter and walked out of the bank, Dubuissou said.

Pass Christian police officers - assisted by the FBI, ATF, Biloxi Bomb Disposal, the Harrison County Bomb Squad and Bay St. Louis police - evacuated and cordoned off the area, closing Winn-Dixie and other area businesses.

The bomb turned out to be a fake. Dubuissou said later, just as in three previous robberies in which homemade fake bombs were used in the previous week at Louisiana banks in Monroe, Lafayette and Slidell.

Brookhaven police officers on Sunday arrested John Earl Jordan Jr., age 39, of Baton Rouge, on unrelated drug charges.

They later realized he could be the bank robbery suspect. The FBI has also said Jordan is a suspect in an Aug. 29 robbery at Bancorp South in Laurel; and a Sept. 11 heist at Hancock Bank in Alexandria.

PRCC to host free baseball coaching clinic Jan. 10

Pearl River Community College will host a baseball coaches clinic Saturday, Jan. 10, at 2:30 p.m. here in Wildcat Stadium.

PRCC head coach Jay Artigues and his staff along with coaches from the University of Southern Mississippi, William Carey College, and Petal High School will conduct the free clinic.

Artigues said there will be a free cookout beginning at 2:30 p.m. at Wildcat room," he said.

Kelly said he grabbed a black sweatshirt and threw it on the flaming television in the living room.

"The shirt wasn't working, so I grabbed a big pillow and snuffed out the fire," he said. "I wanted to make sure the fire was out, so I went back to the bathroom and found a vase. I dumped out the flowers, filled it with water and dumped it on the television."

Kelly said he went to the front door and met a police officer who asked him to come out of the smoke. Before he did so, Kelly dumped another vase full of water on the television just to be sure the fire was out.

He made a statement to the officer and then "went back to work."

When asked how it felt to save someone's home, Kelly said, "I could either go in and do what I did, or I could stand there and watch the house burn. I didn't want to do that."

Kelly said it was the prayer that helped him. Everything he needed to put out the fire was there, he said.

"It was just a door I kicked in. It was just a pillow I ruined," he said. "The house is still there."

"It was really nice of him," said Tracey Carreras, the homeowner. "He really went out of his way to save (the house)."

Carreras was out of town at the time of the fire on Dec. 16.

Ronnie Vanney, Public Works director, said he had no idea if Kelly considered his own well-being.

"He did an outstanding job," Vanney said. "He actually saved someone's Christmas. It was a heroic effort."

Robert Gavagnie, Bay St. Louis Fire chief, said the fire department arrived shortly after Kelly put out the fire. An unattended candle on the television was the culprit, he said. Gavagnie reported that there was very little damage other than the television.

"This shows the caliber of employees the city has," Gavagnie said. "(Kelly) was not just doing his job, but looking out for everything in the city."

Hydrographic science students provide vital link for maritime history project

THE SEA COAST ECHO

A group of scientists, historians and divers recently confirmed an important historical discovery made by hydrographic science students from The University of Southern Mississippi.

As a field project in the summer of 2002, the Southern Miss hydrographic science class based at Stennis Space Center used multibeam and side-scan sonar equipment to map the underwater landscape of the meandering east Pearl River between the I-10 and Highway 90 bridges in Hancock County.

What they found hidden for decades under the murky water turned a dream into reality for David Andre, executive director of the Mississippi Sound Maritime Historical Foundation.

In the river, students found deposits of old rough-cut logs believed to be remnants from the days of large-scale logging at Logtown, Miss., where original growth pine and cypress trees were cut and processed from 1848 until major logging ceased in 1928.

Andre's foundation plans to build a reproduction Mississippi Sound Lugger, a 36-foot sailing boat, in the same style and with old-growth yellow long-leaf pine as would have been used over 100 years ago. Using line drawings employed to build an 1894 sailing lugger originally constructed in Pascagoula, the foundation will bring an important piece of the Mississippi Gulf Coast's maritime history to life. Through an arrangement with the Mississippi Secretary of State's Office, Andre has been granted a special permit from Mississippi's Department of Marine Resources to harvest 65 old-growth pine logs from the lower Pearl River to build the reproduction vessel.

"We developed the permit in a very restricted manner to be environmentally sound," said Sharon Hatch Hodge, special assistant attorney general to the Department of Marine Resources. "When you have an area like the Pearl River that is tidally influenced, it falls under the public trust doctrine, with the Secretary of State as the trustee."

Andre's project, Hodge said, is historically important and therefore warranted special consideration. Interpretation of the side-scan sonar readings from the Southern Miss hydrographic survey of the Pearl River first revealed log formations. The sonar, mounted inside a small torpedo-shaped "towfish," is towed underwater behind the boat. The sonar emits sound pulses that penetrate the murky water, reflect off underwater features along both sides and return to the sonar's receiver. The intensity of this return to the sonar produces an image of marine features on either side of the towfish.

"The data collected in the 2002 survey was used by our Hydrographic Science Research Center to produce an inland electronic nautical chart," said David Dodd, coordinator of the Hydrographic Science Program at Southern Miss. "This electronic chart was then brought back into an integrated navigation system to assist in directing us to the target locations."

Dodd reviewed sonar data from students, 2002 field project and marked several target areas on the electronic chart of the river, indicating likely locations for logs.

On Nov. 15, Dodd and Andre, joined volunteer divers from the Gulfport Fire Department on the Pearl River to see if the stick-like images glimpsed on side-scan sonar really were old-growth logs. Outfitted with global positioning and computer equipment aboard the boat, Dodd was able to literally watch on his laptop computer as their boat closed in on targets identified in the electronic chart.

"The volunteer divers went into the water at the targets indicated on the chart," Dodd said. "The targeting was incredibly accurate. Weights tethered to buoys were dropped into the river to mark the targets from the electronic chart, and the weights nearly hit the logs."

While the first location was identified as a shipwreck (which was marked for future reference), the next several locations investigated by divers proved to be exactly what Andre was hoping to find.

Not only did divers find logs, they found good-sized logs between 12 and 36 inches in diameter. "We were amazed at the number of logs," Andre said.

Now with confirmed locations of the old logs, Andre, has information he can use to pursue his historic project.

"Having Southern Miss equipped with the technology, the willing spirit, and instruments like GPS, side-scan sonar, and eventually multibeam sonar, is a most valuable resource as our foundation seeks to preserve the heritage of the Mississippi Sound, its lands, and tributaries," Andre said.

Andre expects to begin harvesting 65 of the old logs within 30 days, with construction of the reproduction vessel planned for February 2004. While under construction on the west side of the Gulfport Small Craft Harbor, the public may view the vessel as it takes shape under the hands of volunteers and expert shipwrights. The finished lugger will be berthed near the construction site as a permanent exhibit to help illustrate not only the timber industry of Mississippi, but also the history of working watercraft in the Mississippi Sound.

"It will be the first of a series of historic boats we hope to keep on exhibit there," Andre said.

As for Dodd's part in this adventure, he said the boating excursion with Andre, has been beneficial for his program as well. "It basically validated all the processes we used in the 2002 survey," Dodd said. "To be able to go back to those points using the positioning and processes from 2002, proves that our processes are sound."

The future promises more discoveries for Dodd and his hydrographic science students. "Next year's student project area has been selected and we're going to chart the Pearl River from the I-10 bridge northward to Stennis Space Center," Dodd said. "Who knows what we'll find?"

The Southern Miss Department of Marine Science is strategically located at Stennis Space Center in Hancock County, home to the world's largest population of oceanographers and hydrographers. The department offers both masters and doctoral degrees in marine science and a master's degree in hydrographic science.

Retirees receive COLA payments of $162 million

The Public Employees' Retirement System of Mississippi (PERS) will make Cost-of-Living Adjustment (COLA) payments of $161,963,342 to 48,814 retirees and beneficiaries during December. The payments are for the current fiscal year of July 1, 2003-June 30, 2004.

COLA payments were transmitted Monday, December 15 to retirees who receive their benefits by direct deposit and checks were mailed Friday, December 12 to retirees who do not have direct deposit.

COLA recipients include 47,381 retirees and beneficiaries of PERS, 497 retirees and beneficiaries of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol Retirement System (MHSRPS), 81 retirees and beneficiaries of the Supplemental Legislative Retirement Plan (SLRP) and 855 retirees and beneficiaries of Municipal Retirement Systems (MRS) in 10 cities.

For PERS, MHSRPS and SLRP, a member must draw retirement benefits for one full fiscal year (July 1-June 30) to qualify for a COLA payment. Requirements for the Municipal system vary, depending upon the legislation that authorized the payments. Cities that authorized MRS COLA payments are Biloxi, Clinton, Columbus, Greenville, Gulfport, Hattiesburg, Laurel, Pascagoula, Vicksburg, and Yazoo City.

Retirees who chose to receive their COLA payment in monthly increments throughout the fiscal year will not receive a payment December 15. The total amount they receive during the fiscal year will be the same as it would have been had they not chosen monthly payments. Retirees can make an irrevocable election to receive monthly payments. Any retiree who does not make that election receives the entire amount in December.

FSA loan funds

The Farm Service Agency (FSA) has loan funds to help socially disadvantaged beginning farmers, including minorities, buy land for farming or to operate farms.

People who think they may be eligible, whether they already are in farming or would like to become farmers, are urged to contact the FSA county office in their areas.

Grand opening

Dempsey's Restaurant, 200 Coleman Avenue, Waveland recently held a ribbon cutting ceremony to mark its grand opening. Dempsey's specializes in fresh seafood and steak dinners and is open for lunch and dinner, Tuesday - Sunday. In attendance at the ribbon cutting were Dusty Rhodes, Linda Graffeo, Dorothy Smith, Waveland mayor Tommy Longo, owner Diane Hennessy, Reeb Hennessy and many other friends and staff members. ## Retiree Partnership honors volunteers

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Retiree Partnership responded to over 1,600 inquiries from prospective new residents, and relocated 257 new households in 2003, with the help of the work of the Hometown Ambassador team of senior volunteers who were honored during the organization's 4th annual Holiday Awards Luncheon, hosted by the Harrison County Development Commission.

The organization received 1,676 inquiries in 2003 with additional advertising in key military publications, national features in Where to Retire, and increased use of a special toll-free number (1-866-MS-COAST) answered by area Hometown Ambassadors and Commission staff. Total retirement inquiries now exceed 13,639 since the program's inception in 1995. Total new households recruited and tracked total 574. Each new household is the economic equivalent of 3.7 manufacturing jobs, according to the Mississippi Development Authority.

Eight outstanding Hometown Ambassadors were honored for their recruiting work in 2003:

"Golden Pen" Writing Award: Domoiselle Halthi, Biloxi

"Alexander Graham Bell"

Phone Bank Award; Jeff Neel, Gulfport

"Driving Force" Tour Award: Ken & Cheryl Cardinal, Diamondhead

Perfect Attendance Award: Lucy Bickham, Gulfport

Outstanding New Ambassador: Lee Barnes, Gulfport

Outstanding Ambassadors of the Year: Joe & Anne Hann, Biloxi

Ambassador "Spirit" Award: Ken & Cheryl Cardinal, Diamondhead

(voted on by Ambassadors)

The Beau Rivage Resort & Casino was named the organization's Outstanding Community Supporter for their numerous, in-kind donations and sponsorship of the first annual "50+ Lifestyle Expo" in March 2003.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Retiree Partnership was formed in 1999 to more aggressively market the region to active retirees. The Partnership's activities are coordinated by the Harrison County Development Commission, with financial support by the private sector. Private sector sponsors include:

Tradition Development Corporation, Gulf Coast Medical center, Gulf Coast Association of REALTORS®, The Peoples

Bank, Sawyer Insurance group, The Sun Herald, Creekwood North Apartments, Harrington Realty, and Lifestyles 2000.

Harrison County is one of only 20 certified retirement communities in Mississippi and is the only certified county in the state. The Hometown Mississippi Retirement Program is administered by the Mississippi Development Authority's Division of Tourism.

Rawls new PRCC recruiter

Pearl River Community College graduate Jennifer G. Rawls is the new recruiter at PRCC.

Rawls, a William Carey College graduate with a B.S. in Biology, will also serve as the school's cheerleader coach, modeling coach and manage student activities on both PRCC campuses in Poplarville and Hattiesburg.

Rawls will work under Dr. Barbara Gandy, Director of Recruitment and Orientation.

PERS to hold election

The Public Employees' Retirement System of Mississippi will conduct an election for a position on the PERS Board of Trustees representing employees of public school districts and public community colleges. The election will be for a six-year term beginning May 1, 2004.

Any employee of a public school district or a public community college who has been a member of the Retirement System for at least 10 years is eligible to run for the position. Candidates may qualify for the election by filing petitions signed by at least 25 PERS members who are employees of public school districts or public community colleges. Signatures by PERS members not employed by a public school district or a public community college will be disallowed.

Petitions are being mailed to school districts and community colleges. Anyone wishing to qualify for the election should contact the personnel or human services office at his or her employer after December 1 to obtain petitions.

The deadline for filing petitions with PERS is 5 p.m. Wednesday, December 31, 2003. PERS is currently located in the AmSouth Plaza Building, 210 East Capitol St. in Jackson, but the mailing address remains 429 Mississippi St., Jackson, MS 39201. Any petitions received after the deadline will be disallowed, even if postmarked prior to the deadline.

Ballots will be mailed to employers Thursday January 15, 2004, for distribution to Employees. Employers must return completed ballots to PERS by 5 p.m. Tuesday, February 17, 2004. If no candidate receives a majority of votes cast in the first election, there will be a runoff between the top two votegetters.

The incumbent is Corinth School Superintendent Dr. Lee Childress.

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Campus Ministry Council of Our Lady Academy focuses on different organizations for its community out-reach program during the school year. Recently, they selected Morning Star Pregnancy Care Center, a sponsored work of the Catholic Diocese of Biloxi, as a ministry project.

OLA's service organization collected 148 articles of baby clothing and other items, as well as $225 in cash donations for Morning Star. Each of the six classes at OLA was given suggestions of items to donate. The students who contributed gifts to the project were invited to a "Baby Shower" party of cake and punch, given by the Campus

The Campus Ministry members also assembled over 200 packets of informational leaflets relating to pregnancy, life choices, abortion, adoption, smoking, fetal alcohol syndrome, fetal development, and newborn care. The packets of information are distributed to individuals through the Morning Star Center.

Goellner receives high honor

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Chief Warrant Officer Joseph Goellner, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goellner, Sr. and grandson of Mrs. Edward Murtagh and the late Eddie Murtagh received the Bronze Star for exceptional service for a military assignment he completed in Iraq during Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Excerpts from the narrative for the Bronze Star are as follows: CW2 Joseph Goellner performed duties as the all source intelligence and targeting technician for the V Corps Analysis and Control Element during Iraqi Freedom.

Goellner developed and perfected the downed pilot tactics, techniques and procedures for the V Corps ACE, which were instrumental in planning, analyzing, and targeting Iraqi military forces.

As a result of Mr. Goellner's efforts when an Aviation Regiment helicopter went down, the ACE soldiers located the downed Apache on the battlefield and passed his location to the operators and the unit involved.

Goellner's situational awareness of the enemy situation, coupled with his ability to develop junior analysts, was invaluable in V Corp's successful mission of total destruction of enemy forces during conventional ground combat operations.

Goellner is currently at his home base in Heidelberg, Germany serving as rear company commander for his company's support staff.

The Sea Coast Echo is participating in the Newspaper in Education Program for the 2003-2004 School year. Sponsors are needed to help provide newspapers for classroom use. During the 2002-2003 school year, all area schools participated in the NIE Program.

You can help by sponsoring a specific teacher(s) at one or more of our schools.
Sponsorships are $150 per class per year.

N.I.E. and YOU make it possible to put our local newspaper in the classrooms to put students in touch with what is happening in their community. Thanks to you, N.I.E. is possible!

Newspapers In Education is a program in which newspapers supplement traditional teaching materials in the classroom. N.I.E. programs are provided to local schools through paid sponsorship programs.

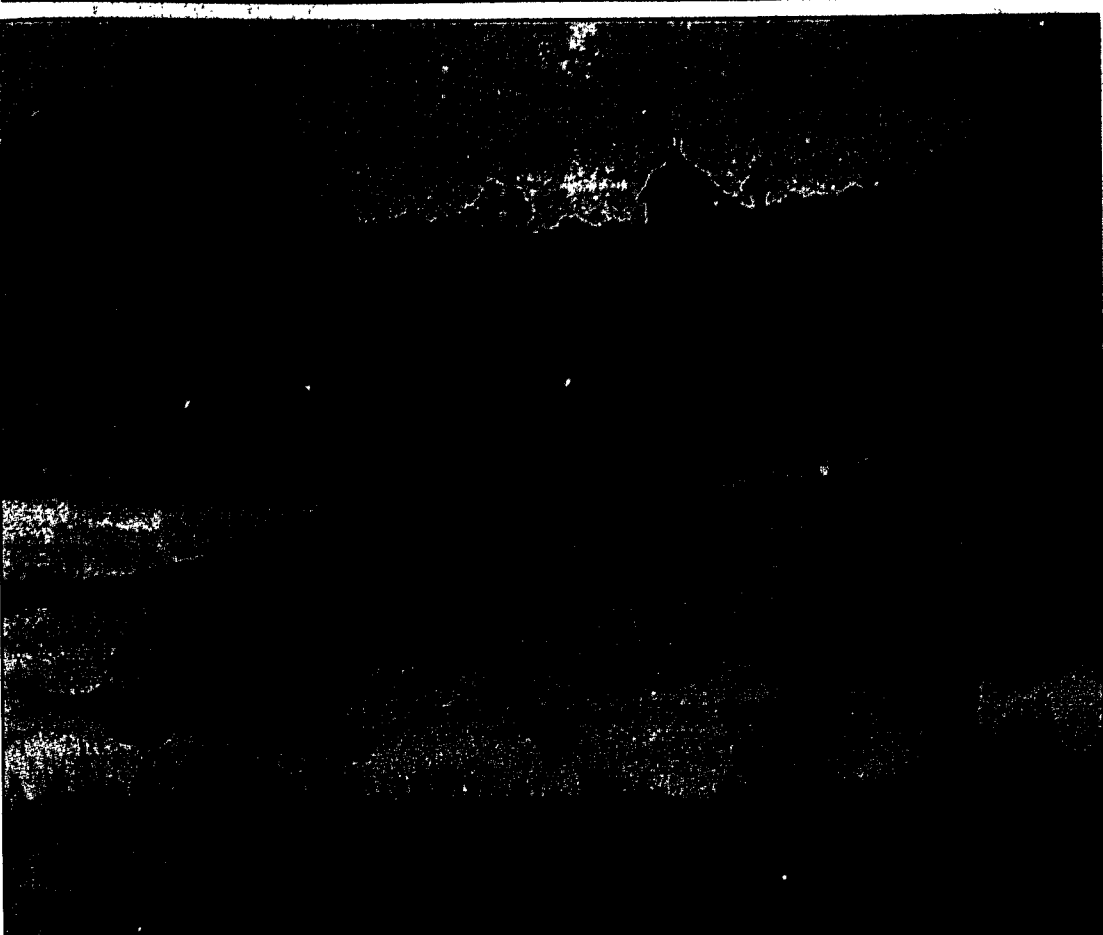

Newspapers In Education programs teach with the newspaper. Students learn to become critical thinkers through reading, analyzing and discussing newspaper stories and editorials. They use the knowledge they gain to engage in conversations with peers and family members.

If you would like to be an NIE SPONSOR or if you are a teacher and would like to use the Echo's N.I.E. program in your classroom you may contact RITA BREUN, N.I.E. coordinator at THE SEA COAST ECHO 467-5474.

Christmas happenings

Christmas Parade is Saturday

Santa is coming to town. The Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor its 5th Annual Christmas Parade on Saturday night, December 20th. The parade will start at 6:30 p.m.

Numerous units will parade with candy throws for the public. The parade will begin at Gulfview School, travel down Lakeshore Road to Beach Blvd. to Ioor Street, turn and travel to the Railroad tracks where it will end. Everyone is welcome. Santa will set-up at the fire station to allow pictures to be taken of children on his knee.

Santa will be escorted to Gulfview School by the volunteer Fire Department on December 19. He is expected to arrive at 10:00 a.m. to visit the Pre-K through 3rd grade.

Also, the Kiln VFW's Annual Children's Cowboy Parade and Christmas Party will be held on Sunday, December 21st. Santa Claus is also expected to make an appearance at this fun-filled holiday festival.

Kiln VFW Ladies Auxiliary Christmas Dinner Dance

The Kiln Memorial VFW Post 6285 Ladies Auxiliary will hold its annual Christmas Dinner Dance on Friday, December 19th at 8:00 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by Bill Lee. Proceeds from the dance will go towards their 2003/2004 Annual Fundraising Campaign. Admission will be $7.00 per person and will include dinner. Guests are invited to BYOB, with beer and set-ups available from the lounge.

Christ's life depicted at Central Bible Church

Central Bible Church in Bay St. Louis cordially invites everyone to come celebrate Christmas in a grand way! The Sanctuary Choir and Drama Cast will be presenting "Emmanuel, Hope of our Hearts" on Sunday evening, December 21, beginning at 6:00 p.m. Central Bible Church is located at 2002 Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis, directly across from Post Office.

Sounds of Deep South inspire artist with 'Jazz'

creative JUICE

This art series features one piece of work by a local artist and reveals the creative process behind that work. This week, fine art painter Claudeette Garcia discusses the inspiration behind her painting "Jazz." This series runs every other Thursday. Artists interested in having one of their works featured should contact Shannon Jenkins at 228-467-5474 or rsjecho@yahoo.com.

- Fine art painter
- Pearllington native
- Resident of Bay St. Louis
- Artist since 1989
- Work found at The Seawall (5060 Lakeshore Road)

Echo: Where did the inspiration for this work come from?

Garcia: Inspiration from the sounds and vibes of the Deep South find my most recent collection of paintings.

Echo: What do you like most about this work and why?

Garcia: (I like) the emotion this piece is able to evoke through color and line. As sound carries the feeling of music, light brings emotions to those who view my paintings.

Echo: What does this piece mean to you?

Garcia: The joy of the coast may be found in the color and lines of my work. I will be teaching a painting class through City County Community Ed in the new year.

This class will feature coastal inspirations — the sounds and sights of the South.

Echo: What is unique about this work?

Garcia: This piece takes sound to a visual level. Inspired by jazz music, this piece draws upon movement to reflect sound.

Echo: Why did you create this piece?

Garcia: Upon my recent return to the Gulf Coast, I was inspired by many of the sounds of music as well as nature. The natural order of the coast moves my recent works.

PRCC's Career-Tech Division offers night classes

Pearl River Community College's career-technical division will be offering a variety of night classes during the spring semester on the Poplarville campus.

Night class registration will be held from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 8, 2004, on the Poplarville campus.

Night class offerings include:

• Language and Literacy Development for Young Children - A study of language development and the implementation of a developmentally appropriate language arts curriculum for young children. Mondays, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. - Judy Shaw, Instructor.

• Guiding Social and Emotional Behavior - Identifying and practicing effective techniques in guiding young children's behavior. Lab activities with the children are implemented during Practicum I and II. Mondays, 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. - Judy Shaw, Instructor.

• Child Development I - This course provides knowledge concerning the care and development of infants and toddlers in group settings. Practice is given in infant and toddler care-giving in group settings through classroom laboratory or collaborative centers. Tuesdays, 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. - Sonya Fischer, Instructor.

• Solid State Devices and Circuits - A comprehensive study of semiconductor diodes and transistors. Solid state circuits including rectifiers, clippers, clamps, power supplies, Zener regulators, filters, bipolar amplifier circuits, and power amplifiers. Temperature effects, biasing techniques, configuration, frequency ranges, and other parameters are analyzed. Tuesdays, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. - Lourie Barnett, Instructor

• Electronic Communication - This course, along with the prerequisite, provides the student with the technical knowledge to prepare for entry into the field of electronic communication. Emphasis is placed on system analysis and trouble analysis for each of the communication systems covered. Topics studied include transmitters and receivers designed for amplitude, frequency and phase modulation systems along with circuit alignment and failure analysis and repair. Mondays, 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. - Vic Cerniglia, Instructor

• Fundamentals of Electronics - This course is designed to provide fundamental skills associated with all electronics courses. This course includes safety, bread-boarding, use of calculator, test equipment familiarization, soldering, electronic symbols and terminology. Tuesdays, 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. - Vic Cerniglia, Instructor

• Tools, Equipment and Safety - This course is designed to give the student experience in the use and care of tools and equipment along with the safety procedures used in the masonry trade. Thursdays, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. - Porter Soley, Instructor

• Industrial Welding - A thorough course in welding procedures and techniques that apply to the welding industry (pipe welding, flux core, carbon arc gauging, mig/tig and other welding procedures) CEU credit. Monday and Wednesday, 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. - Leland Kennedy, Instructor

• Word Processing - This course focuses on production of documents using word processing functions. Production with accuracy is stressed and practice is given through a variety of documents for skillbuilding. Tuesdays, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., Elaine Smith, Instructor.

1983: Plastics plant plans to expand

TEN YEARS AGO

December 5, 1953 - Bay St. Louis resident David N. McDonald was named Citizen of the Year at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday night. The honoree's numerous business and civic contributions were highlighted by outgoing president John Mason. The owner of Dave McDonald's Lumber Company and later Dave McDonald Flooring, retired in 1990 after 32 years. He began his career at W.A. McDonald & Sons in 1946. Currently the president of the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission, he is the second longest serving commissioner. McDonald was awarded a Bronze Star and the Purple Heart for his service to country in Belgium and in Germany's Battle of the Bulge as a member of the 84th infantry. He and another American soldier were featured in Stars and Stripes after convincing a group of Germans they were surrounded by a large contingent of Americans. The two marched the whole group to a POW camp. He was honorable discharged as a Captain.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

December 6, 1983 - Borg-Warner Chemicals, Inc. plans to begin a $20 million construction program to expand its Baymar Plastics Plant at Port Bienville Industrial Park. Leo Kowal, plant manager, said Wednesday afternoon the construction would begin in September or later in 1984 to increase plant production capacity and manufacturing capabilities. The construction is to be completed in early 1986 and he said the company will add 25 employees to its present work force of 50. (Note: Borg-Warner was later sold to GE Plastics).

-Some 10,000 checks totaling $386,775 in capital credits refunds are being mailed this week to members of Coast Electric Power Association. Consumers who received service from the association in 1956 through 1959 will receive the refunds. These checks represent a refund of capital contributed by these members through the year 1959.

FORTY YEARS AGO

December 5, 1963 - Two new Catholic buildings in Hancock County will be dedicated Sunday by Bishop Richard O. Gerow of Natchez-Jackson Diocese. At 11 a.m. he will take part in ceremonies for Annunciation Parish's school at Kiln and at 4 p.m. he will celebrate solemn

'Tis the Season

Christmas got started early in the county with a parade in Pearlinton put on by the West Hancock County Volunteer Fire and Rescue and featuring the Hancock High School Marching Band. Cold temperatures didn't deter parade goers who turned out for the parade and social on December 6.

Following the parade the Kiln Library held its annual Tree Lighting Ceremony complete with a visit from Santa who arrived on a Kiln Volunteer Fire Department Fire truck. The Hancock High Choir and Hancock North Central provided music for the occasion.

This past weekend, the Waveland Festival was all but rained out except for a few hardy souls who stuck around to hear St. Clare Elementary Choir's spectacular performance of favorite Christmas carols. A fireworks display was held on the beach the following evening, postponed due to the weather.

My mother's recipes

Stella is spelling me this Sunday with some remarks on cooking. This week's entry is from her column on our website: www.annabellepublishing.com. She does a new recipe each month and I do a new story. Check it out when you get a chance.

***

I don't believe there are really any "new" recipes.

Most of what we think of as being new are really long-tried, basic recipes that, as Emeril would say, are "kicked up a notch." I like to think of all my recipes as being my own, but I secretly know that they fall into that category. We all love to experiment in the kitchen and some of our experiments result in very good dishes, some not so good. But when you get down to it, we all are conducting our experiments on a basic set of very old, tried-and-true recipes. In one way the results are our really our own and in another way they're not.

This month's recipe is not quite that kind. Despite it being unique and one you won't easily find in a recipe book, I don't really consider it my own. This month's recipe is the result of a walk down memory lane. It's a trip that many of us make in the kitchen and I suppose is one of the joys of cooking that we all secretly love. The recipe is one that my mother and I concocted when, years ago, we set out to reproduce a favorite salad my aunt used to make. It was a wonderful day in the kitchen and one that I remember well. I'm not sure how close my mother and I came to aunt's recipe, but we were both very happy with the result. We rather grandly called it, "Cranberry Waldorf Salad."

I suppose in a way it is "our" recipe and in a way it is not, but the memory of the fun my mother and I had in the kitchen when we worked to reproduce it is all mine. I can't give you that, but I can give you part of what we made that day, the recipe.

It's a "salad" recipe in the sense that it is a cold dish that accompanies the meal, but it's not the typical leafy salad one conjures up when thinking of salads. Nor is it that mold-

Bay Waveland Yacht Club wins U.S. Men's Sailing Championship in North Carolina

BY HARRY CHAPMAN

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club sailors Zak Fanberg, Kippy Chamberlain and Eugene Schmitt have won the Men's National Sailing Championship held recently at Lake Norman in Mooresville, North Carolina.

The BWYC team was awarded the Clifford D. Mallory Cup, a 200-year-old silver soup tureen presented by the Egyptian Sultan Selim III to the family of British Admiral Horatio Lord Nelson for his conquest of Napoleon's fleet at the battle of the Nile in 1798. The cup was since acquired by Clifford D. Mallory and presented to the national sailing authority for this championship.

The victory was so outstanding, the BWYC sailors were far enough ahead after 11 races, that they did not even need to sail the final race. But good sports as they were, they not only entered the race but also won it!

The team won 9 of the 12 races, which were sailed in the Highlander Class, a class of sailboat the team saw for the first time when they arrived at Lake Norman. The Highlander is a 21 foot sloop, somewhat larger than a Flying Scot, the interclub boat used by the Gulf Yachting Association.

In order to qualify to enter the eliminations, Fanberg, Chamberlain and Schmitt first were selected to represent the Bay-Waveland Club. They then had to beat the other competing GYA teams to win the Association Championship. Next, the team competed for and won the Area D, or Southeast U.S. Championship, advancing finally to the National Championship.

Another honor accorded the team was the award of the prestigious Staton J. Peele Sportsmanship Trophy. The winner of this award is determined by vote of all the competitors.

Former Gulf Yachting Association Mallory Cup winners present at the celebration who congratulated the winning team and shared their experiences were 1953 and 1954 winner Gene Walet; Shelby Friedrichs, representing his father Buddy who won in 1964; Marc Eagan with crew Corky Hadden, who won in 1984; Dave Bolyard who crewed for wins in 1994, 99, 2000 and 2001; Tom Baker who crewed for firsts in 1994 and 200; and Brock Schmidt, who skippered to wins in 2000 and 2001. GYA sailors have indeed won more than their share of national championships.

The North Carolina regatta chair in North Carolina wrote that the BWYC team "Exemplifies the characteristics we all hope to have and to see in ourselves and our opponents a competitive spirit, passion for their chosen sport, but wrapped with a sense of fair play."

Mallory Cup winners

Hawks split with Indians; War on the Shore is Friday

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Hancock Hawks split a pair of games with the visiting Biloxi Indians on Tuesday, December 16 in Kiln. The Lady Hawks demolished the Lady Indians 77-30 while the Hawks suffered a tough loss in the nightcap 90-66.

Hancock head girls coach Pam Slayton commented, "I thought we came out very intense on defense and shot the ball well on offense. Our shooting well is very important for us right now because we have had some poor shooting games early this season. We are still trying to get in our groove. We got Brooke Necaise back tonight and it was good to see her get in there and get some playing time. This is her first game back from a calf injury. We have been without her for about three weeks.

"During that time, some other players have gotten some varsity minutes and that should help us down the stretch. Right now, we are focusing on getting better as a team."

The Lady Hawks (6-2, 2-0) jumped on the Lady Indians from the tip-off. Biloxi scored four points early in the first period but did not score again until the 3:19 mark of the first period. Hancock enjoyed a 34-5 advantage at the end of the period.

Brooke Necaise nailed consecutive three-pointers to start the second period for Hancock. Erica Moran pushed the Hancock lead to 40 points with consecutive baskets in the paint at the 4:54 mark before halftime with the score in Hancock's favor 48-8. Hancock held a 56-11 lead at intermission.

The third period saw Hancock begin to empty its bench. Biloxi equalized their entire output for the game in the third period but still trailed 65-22 after three periods of play.

Brooke Necaise led the Lady Hawks with 16 points followed by Ashley Boehnel with 14 points. Erica Moran rounded out the double-digit scorers with 10 points.

The Lady Hawks will travel this weekend to the Columbus Tournament and will face two opponents from the state of Alabama. At the beginning of the Christmas break next week, the Lady Hawks will participate in the annual Bay High Christmas Tournament on December 22-23.

In the finale, the Hawks (4-6, 0-2) committed 27 turnovers for the game. Often that is not a recipe for a win. Hancock boys head coach Michael Ladner stated, "We didn't handle Biloxi's pressure well because we were not able to effectively pass the ball. We tried to dribble too much which the end result was way too many turnovers.

You can't do that against a team like Biloxi. The amount of turnovers kept us from establishing our half-court offense. We have to play harder and smarter basketball. Biloxi is a very good team and playing this type of competition will help us prepare for our division challenges."

Biloxi took a 24-13 advantage following the end of the first period. By halftime, the Indians had increased their lead to 51-28.

Early in the third period, the Hawks lost senior starter Josh Ladner to five fouls. The third period ended 74-47 in favor of Biloxi.

The final period saw many younger Hawks get some valuable playing time. Jonathon Moran took advantage of his opportunity as he scored 10 points and pulled down 5 rebounds in the contest. Braxton Rockwell led all scorers with 32 points and 12 rebounds.

In earlier action on the hardwood, the OLA Crescents dropped a game to Mercy Cross 40-32 on December 9. Madeline Loftus led OLA with 10 points in the loss.

ed Cranberry jelly that comes out of a can and people slice and place on the plate with the turkey at Christmas - a dish which some people love and others say that's nice and reach for more candied sweet potatoes. My cranberry salad is a festive dish that can be used with any grand meal, not just with end-of-year holidays feasts but at other occasions such as Easter or Father's Birthday.

But there is more! Not only is this dish good as a salad, it can be served as a dessert and, when topped with a dab of whipping cream, it is not just good but makes a grand presentation. Ta! Ta! C'est tres elegante!

Note that in the recipe, I call for a can of whole cranberry sauce; however, fresh cranberries are wonderful in this salad and, I believe, very much tastier. A 12 oz. bag of berries cooked with one cup of sugar and one cup of water works quite well. So go the extra not so many steps and, rather than the can of whole cranberry sauce, use fresh berries when available - the extra effort is well worth-while.

about fruit here. As a natural product, fresh fruit varies in taste according to where it comes from. I've found that we prefer cranberries from New Jersey and other eastern states over those sent from California.

P.S. After cooking some fresh berries for dinner the other evening, we did a little experimenting. We topped some homemade vanilla ice cream with about a teaspoon of fresh raspberries. It was wonderful, just a slightly tart, delicious taste. We realized that it could be also used as a topping for a number of other dishes such as bread pudding or rice pudding. Experiment, have fun.

Stella will be on the 4 o'clock show on WLOX on Friday December 19. She will do a Christmas desert recipe that will probably include cranberries. Tune in and watch.

pontifical mass in the new sanctuary of St. Clare's Catholic Church in Waveland. At Kiln an open house will follow services in the gymnasium with refreshments served by the newly formed Annunciation Parent-Teacher Association. The school which opened in September is being renovated at Kiln. The choir from Oblate Fathers Seminary at Pine Hills will music for the afternoon Mass at St. Clare's.

The Old Clermont Harbor School building, occupied for the last four years as the Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center, was re-opened Monday as a school to house the second and third grades from the overcrowded Gulfview attendance center at Lakeshore.

FIFTY YEARS AGO
December 4, 1953 - The Blood Bank got underway here last week as William Ellis of Bay St. Louis became the first to be typed under the new donor system. The Hancock County Blood Bank began its operations at the Kings Daughters Hospital at 10 a.m. with Edna Isom and Mrs. John D. Rutherford, Jr. serving as technician and assistant. Mrs. Carol Pfeiffer was the first woman to be typed for the blood listing purpose. One more organization joined the others which is backing the blood bank. The new group is the Holy Name Society.

Other groups are the Chamber of Commerce, the Knights of Columbus, the Rotary Club, the Lions Club, the City of Bay St. Louis, the F. & A. M., the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Thirteen Hancock County youths went to Jackson, Miss., for pre-induction physicals. They are: Benjamin F. Hille, Jr., Jesse W. Bilbo, Ellis C. Cuevas, Richard A. Spidome, Tommy Spiers, Wesley R. Dawsey, Carroll B. Jones, Roland A. Shubert, Haden, Ladner, Seymour Lacoste, Leslie J. Necaice, Emmett A. Ladner, Jr., and Royce G. Ladner.

V-12 Tests given November 9, at St. Stanislaus. For the second time the Army specialized training program and the Navy program tests were administered here at St. Stanislaus. The examinations were given between the hours of nine and eleven on the morning of November 9. Only three students at St. Stanislaus were eligible to take the tests, namely Tracy Hendrix, Norman Toups and Floyd Toups.

The A-12 and V-12 examinations were open to high school seniors in their last semester and who had attained their seventeenth year. Graduates of the program will serve as specialists, technicians and officers in the armed forces.

Health officials investigate outbreaks of Meningitis on the MS Gulf Coast

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Mississippi State Department of Health officials have investigated five cases of meningococcal meningitis in the Gulf Coast area since mid-November. Public health officials do not discuss or release the identity of specific cases.

Health officials say that no clear evidence of a connection between the five cases has been found. "Early recognition and treatment of meningococcal meningitis can improve the outcome of this infection," said State Epidemiologist Dr. Mary Currier.

"We want the public to be aware of the signs and symptoms of this disease, so patients will see their doctor or other health care provider if they think they may have this infection."

Meningococcal meningitis is caused by the bacteria, Neisseria meningitidis, a germ that can be found in the nose of ten percent of the population at any time and it usually does not cause illness.

"Transmission of this disease is through large droplets that are spread through coughing, sneezing or drinking after someone," said Dr. Currier.

The Mississippi State Department of Health investigates all suspect and reported cases of meningococcal meningitis and gives medications to immediate contacts of the sick patient. Only people with prolonged close contact with a patient sick from this bacteria are considered contacts and need medications," said Dr. Currier.

Symptoms of meningococcal meningitis include severe headache with a stiff neck and/or nausea, vomiting and a rash.

For more information on this disease and other public health topic, the public can visit the Mississippi State Department of Health at www.msdh.state.ms.us or call Health Info toll-free at 1-800-489-7670 weekdays from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

MGCCC sets spring registration

Picture yourself in classes at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College this spring. Pre-registration is now open on the college's website so students can sign up for the classes that best fit their schedule. Online registration will be offered throughout the holidays, but is only available to students who have contacted their faculty adviser and received a website pin number.

On-campus registration will be Jan. 7-8 at all of the college's campuses for students who didn't complete pre-registration. A list of all spring classes can be found at www.mgccc.edu or at each campus's Admissions Office. All classes begin Jan. 12.

During both pre-registration and on-campus registration, students will be asked to make payment or payment arrangements for all classes. Students should meet with both financial aid and academic advisers before signing up for classes. Each campus will have staff members on hand to answer students' questions.

Late registration will continue until Jan. 16 for all daytime classes, but for evening classes, all registration must be complete before the second class meeting. Residence halls on the Perkinston Campus open Jan. 6 for students.

For more information about each campus's registration, contact the Admissions Office at any location or call toll free, 1-866-735-1122.

SHANNON MARIE NOONAN, PLAINTIFF VS.
RODNEY PAUL NOONAN, IF ALIVE, AND IF DEAD, HIS UNKNOWN HEIRS AT LAW OR DEVISEES
CAUSE NO. C2001-03-848-2
SPECIAL COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE OF SALE

WHEREAS, a Judgment Establishing and Enforcing Lien on Real Property Interest was rendered in this cause on December 10, 2003, under the terms of which the plaintiff, Shannon Marie Noonan, was granted a lien upon the interest of the defendant, Rodney Paul Noonan, in and to the following described real property; and WHEREAS, plaintiff herein, Shannon Marie Noonan, is the owner of an undivided two-thirds (2/3) interest in the said property and the defendant, Rodney Paul Noonan, is the owner of an undivided one-third (1/3) interest in and to the said property; and WHEREAS, under the terms of said Judgment, the defendant, Rodney Paul Noonan, has been adjudicated to be indebted to the plaintiff, Shannon Marie Noonan, in the amount of $15,924.41, plus his share of additional necessary expenses paid by the plaintiff on the said real property; and WHEREAS, the said Judgment grants unto the plaintiff a lien against the undivided one-third interest of the defendant in and to the said real property described below to secure said indebtedness; and WHEREAS, the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi, has been appointed by said Judgment as Special Commissioner in this cause to sell the said undivided one-third (1/3) interest of the defendant, Rodney Paul Noonan, at a public sale pursuant to and in accordance with State law governing sales of land by trustees under deeds of trust in order to satisfy the indebtedness and the lien of the plaintiff.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, TIMOTHY A. KELLAR, Special Commissioner, will on the 13th day of January, 2004, offer for sale at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, and will sell within legal hours (being between the hours of 11:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.) at the front door of the County Courthouse at Bay St. Louis, County of Hancock, State of Mississippi, the undivided one-third interest of the defendant, Rodney Paul Noonan, in and to the following described property situated and lying in Hancock County, State of Mississippi, to-wit: THE COMBELL SUBDIVISION OF LOT 105, Second Ward, Town of Waveland, Hancock County, Mississippi, as per the official record of said subdivision, recorded in Volume C-3, page 147-148 of the Hancock County Deed Records. Said lot or parcel of land has a frontage of 50 feet on Second Street and runs between parallel lines 50 feet apart to a depth of 130 feet. I WILL CONVEY any such title as is vested in me as Special Commissioner.

DATED this 10th day of December, 2003.

 WHEREAS, on the 23rd day of June, 1999, VIRGINIA EDELMAN, executed a certain Deed of Trust unto Stephen R. Colson, Trustee, SOUTHEAST FUNDING, INC., Beneficiary, to secure an indebtedness therein described which Deed of Trust is recorded in Book 558, Page 148, of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, on the 28th day of June, 1999, SOUTHEAST FUNDING, INC., assigned said Deed of Trust to GRAND BANK FOR SAVINGS, FSB, which assignment is recorded in Book 558, Page 157, of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, on the 16th day of November, 2000, GRAND BANK FOR SAVINGS, FSB, assigned said Deed of Trust to MORTGAGE FUNDING CORPORATION, a Mississippi Corporation, which assignment is recorded in Book 635, Page 34, of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, on the 6th day of June, 2001, the Beneficiary appointed, HUGH D. KEATING, as Substitute Trustee, which instrument is recorded in Book 637, Page 136, of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, default having been made in the payment of a portion of the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, and the holder of said Deed of Trust having declared all of the amount due and having requested this sale for the purpose of paying said indebtedness or as much thereof as said sale brings;

NOW THEREFORE, I, Hugh D. Keating, Substituted Trustee, will on the 19th day of December, 2003, within lawful hours, being between the hours of 11:00 O'clock A.M. and 4:00 O'clock P.M., offer for sale and will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, at the main front door of the Hancock County Courthouse in the City of Bay St. Louis, County of Hancock, State of Mississippi, the following described real property situated in Hancock County, Mississippi, and being more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

The Southeast quarter of the Southwest quarter, and the Northeast quarter of the Southwest quarter, Section 3, Township 6 South, Range 14 West, lying North of the Standard Deeds Road, less parts thereof, said property being more fully described in Volumes G-2, Page 369, J-7, Page 43, Deed Records of Hancock County, Mississippi.

together with all improvements lying thereon and appurtenances thereto belonging. I will convey only such title as is vested in me as Substitute Trustee.

WITNESS MY SIGNATURE, this 21st day of November, 2003.

Hugh D. Keating, Substituted Trustee
